WOULD REGULATE TOBACCO SELLING

Parent Teachers' Association holds Meeting After Summer Recess and Adopts Recommendations to Protect Children.

The Parent-Teachers' Association held its first meeting for this year in the High School room Friday evening.

The committee on the cigarette and tobacco law relating to the sale to minors, composed of Mrs. Will M. Seligman, Mrs. Wm. Acsh McClean, Mrs. Donald P. McPherson and Mrs. R. C. Miller, reported that the act of assembly approved March 16, 1905, prohibited the sale of cigarettes, tobacco and the giving of cigarette papers to minors. Upon the strength of this law they recommended as follows:

"We beg to recommend to the association that copies of the act should be printed in convenient form and copies of the same be sent by the secretary of the association to the various dealers in cigarettes, doing business in Gettysburg, one copy for their own information and with the request that one of the copies sent them be posted in their place of business, and

"We further recommend that the dealers be requested to cooperate in the enforcement of these laws with the association and,

"Further recommend that in any case cigarettes, etc., are continued to be furnished to minors in Gettysburg, that the association take such action looking to the enforcement of the laws prohibiting the same as it may deem proper in the premises." The recommendations were enthusiastically received and accepted and the committee discharged.

The new business presented was a letter from the Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers by invitation of the Williamsport Association, to the Mothers' Circle and Parent-Teacher Association of this place, announcing that the annual meeting would be held at Williamsport, October 5th, 6th and 7th, 1911, and requested them to send their full representation of delegates, one for every ten members. This being impossible at the present time, it was decided to send one delegate, Mrs. Will M. Seligman was elected to represent the association.

The entertainment part of the evening was composed of a piano solo by Mrs. J. B. Baker; vocal solo by Miss Reta Miller and papers on "Where Parents Fail, and the Teacher's Viewpoint," read by Miss Helen Cope, and Miss Annie Major, and a few remarks by Prof. Burgoon.

The argument was to the effect that parents do not guard their children enough outside of the school room. They think that if the child spends the day in school that they ought at least to have a few hours recreation in the evening and they are permitted to attend shows, parties, etc., and retire at a late hour, and then the next day they are incapable for work, sleepy, inattentive, and no lessons prepared, which necessitates an inferior mark for the student who would otherwise have received a much better standing.

Parents should see that their children give a portion of their evenings to their books, and during that period see that they concentrate their minds on their studies, allow nothing to detract. Failure to adhere to the above suggestions is too often the cause of the pupils' failure to be promoted. The teachers' plea is to encourage respectful relationship between parents and school authorities.

Next month the parents will have the opportunity of reading papers on the same subject.

CANDY SOARS AS SUGAR ADVANCES

Because of the advance in the price of sugar, confections for the Christmas trade will be higher in price than they have been in a number of years. Candy manufacturers have notified the wholesale trade of the higher quotations on all kinds of candy. The advance varies from one cent to two and a half cents on the pound.

A representative of a wholesale candy firm said "Since the manufacturer has raised the prices to the wholesale dealer the retail dealer will have to advance the price to the consumer. The wholesale prices on the different forms of chocolate confections have increased one cent a pound since last Monday. On stick candy, fine lozenges and other kinds of candies which are composed entirely of sugar, the increase has been two and a half cents on the pound. No, we do not anticipate a drop in price before Christmas trade opens. If anything there will be a greater increase. If the price of sugar continues to advance the candy manufacturers will of necessity charge higher prices for their products."

RIELE and STOCK will hold a preliminary opening Saturday, 16th. All invited, 15 Chambersburg street.

GANG CHARGED WITH ROBBERY

Edgemont Store Robbed. Fourth Fair of the Kind in Two Weeks. Same Parties Thought to be Responsible in Every Case.

The general merchandise store of Edward K. Bachtel, Edgemont, was broken into some time Thursday night or Friday morning. The robbery was discovered by Mr. Bachtel when he went to the store Friday morning to open for the day.

Entrance was gained by the robber, or robbers, boring around the lock and opening the door.

As far as can be ascertained by Mr. Bachtel about $100 worth of goods had been taken, shoes, dry goods, and clothing, principally figuring in the loss. No groceries were taken.

The robbery is believed to have been committed by a gang that has been operating in this section for the last two weeks. The robbery at Charman and the hold up of Prof. Melamet and son, between Pen Mar and the Blue Mountain House both occurred recently and are thought to have been the work of some gang.

In connection with the robbery at Charman the robbers stole a handcar belonging to the Western Maryland railroad and escaped on it.

ANNUAL MEETING

The Bear Pond Lumber, Coal and Oil Co., held their annual meeting Friday and elected the following board of directors: P. M. Mishler, Gettysburg; Dr. Samuel McClune, Meadow Mills, Va.; Dr. I. N. Snively, Waynesboro; John W. Tipton, Philadelphia; Reynolds Clough, Esq., Dover, Delaware; S. T. Bastian, D. A. Bollinger and James L. Eby, of Hanover.

The board organized, as follows: president, P. M. Mishler; vice president, Dr. Samuel McClune; secretary, S. T. Bastian; treasurer, James L. Eby; trustee, D. A. Bollinger.

This company owns large tracts of manganese ore and timber properties in Virginia and Maryland, which are said to be developing rapidly on account of railroad extensions and the scarcity of said products.

JURY IN AUTO CASE DISCHARGED

The jury in the case of Keefe vs. Kimmel, Franklin County Court, which retired at 4.10 Thursday afternoon, returned Friday morning at 10 unable to agree and was discharged.

The case was one in which Miss Lydia A. Keefe, an aged Chambersburg woman, was struck by an automobile driven by S. W. Kimmel, of Saltillo, Huntingdon county, while returning home from Gettysburg.

The defense held the accident was due to Mrs. Keefe's failure to take care of herself: the automobile skidded on the muddy street and the driver had exercised proper care.

Mrs. Keefe was made a hopeless cripple by the accident.

RETURN FROM CONVENTION

County Commissioners Z. H. Cashman, J. A. Kane, and William K. Weikert and Clerk S. Mile Miller have returned home after attending the annual convention of county commissioners and clerks held in Indiana, Pa. The gentlemen are all delighted with their trip and speak in glowing terms of the liberal hospitality of the Western Pennsylvania town. They were treated royally and the men attending the convention were so much pleased that they accepted an invitation to return to the same place next year. Indiana is a town of 6000 and among other improvements has all its streets paved with vitrified bricks.

This excellent training admirably fitted her for more finished and important work, so that when an opportunity was offered to play leading roles with Nat Goodwin she was not found wanting. ## SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect.
Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product.
Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.
The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.
This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

long time efforts have been made to

against the half-breed, most of the de-

$500,000 LOSS AND ONE DEAD IN STORM

Rescuers Save Scores in Pittsburg Cloudburst.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 16.—Property loss approximating half a million dollars was done when the streets of Etna, Millvale, Sharpsburg, Turtle Creek and other suburban towns were transformed into raging torrents by a cloudburst. One life was lost and scores of others were saved by firemen and volunteers.

The storm reached its greatest intensity at Etna, where the streets were flooded to the depth of twelve feet and the foundations of many houses were undermined.

Lashing their ladders together, the village firemen spanned the swirling flood 150 feet and saved twenty-five persons who were marooned in a block of houses.

Two hundred steel workers at the Spang & Chalfant company hung to rafters in one of the buildings for several hours until taken off in boats.
Cars loaded with steel and coke were tossed about like corks and railway tracks were torn up.

The flood in the Turtle Creek valley tore through some of the buildings of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company and the Westinghouse Airbrake company, compelling a suspension of work, while a number of factories at Glenshaw were shut down.

Debris dammed against bridges and caused the water to form lakes, creating a dangerous condition for hours.
Telephone and telegraphic communication was interrupted, and in some instances suspended, while railroads annulled trains and rerouted others.

RED SOX IN NEW HANDS

McAleer and Partner Will Control the Boston Americans.
Boston, Sept. 16.—The Boston
Americans will be in new hands next season.

A deal was consummated whereby James R. McAleer, of Washington, and Robert McRoy, of Chicago, the former the present manager of the Washingtons and the latter secretary of the American league, take over half the stock in the club.

The amount of money involved is not announced, but it is understood to be about $150,000. President John I.
Taylor, of the club, retains a half interest, but will be silent, it is said, regarding the conduct of the business and playing management.

Red Men Bar Indians.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 26.—Before adjourning its national convention here the Improved Order of Red Men adopted a resolution prohibiting Indians from joining the organization. For a long time efforts have been made to have the Indian admitted to membership. The chief objection was centered against the half-breed, most of the delegates being favorable to the full blooded Indian.

ROCKEFELLER, JR., WAS NEAR DEATH

Had Narrow Escape in Accident Which Injured Five Men.

ONE OF THEM WILL DIE

Oil Magnate's Son Rushed to Their Aid and Was Covered With Blood as He Directed Work of Relief.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Sept. 16.—John D.
Rockefeller, Jr., escaped death by inches, one man will die and four others were terribly injured in an accident which occurred on Mr. Rockefeller's father's house.

The accident threw a gloom over the Rockefeller estate. Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., was visibly affected, but he hastened to give first aid to the man, while he sent the others to get doctors and nurses to the Rockefeller estate with all possible speed. The garage in the stable was turned into a temporary hospital, and it is there that three doctors and five nurses worked to save the lives of the injured men, with Rockefeller, Jr., superintending everything.

Mr. Rockefeller and his family only returned from Seal Harbor, Me., and Mr. Rockefeller after lunch went up to the hill to see how the addition of ten rooms to his father's house was progressing. The roof of the house had been torn off and it is being shoved up into the air to add ten bedrooms. Mr. Rockefeller had just passed around to the west side of the building as some men were hoisting a bundle of steel up to the roof. The derrick, which is located on the roof, had raised the steel to the secondstory, when one end caught on the cornice. The tie rope broke and the steel tipped up in the air and end slipped through the noose.

Mr. Rockefeller saw what had happened and instantly realized the danger. He yelled "Jump for your lives, men," and then sprang back as the steel came crashing to the ground. A large number of Italian laborers were at work on the ground helping some stone masons. The bundle of steel broke and the beams scattered, and as they struck the ground they mowed the men down like a scythe.

After the crash Mr. Rockefeller rushed in to pull out the injured men from under the pile of steel. Nearly all the men had been hit on the head, and one man's head lay open with an awful gash. Mr. Rockefeller's hands and clothing were soon bathed in blood as he helped and directed the work of relief.

Mr. Rockefeller ordered the garage in the stable made ready for a hospital, and cots were rushed to the stable, while the Rockefeller automobile was sent to a local drug store for all kinds of bandages and medicines.
Mr. Rockefeller helped tie the bandages and gave the men all possible relief until Dr. Chase arrived and then he assumed charge.

Dr. Chase found that one man had a fractured skull and would probably die, another was paralyzed, while the other three had bad cuts on the head, but not fatal injuries.

ENTIRE FAMILY BURNED

Five Persons Found Unconscious in Blazing House.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 16.—Five members of the family were seriously burned in the fire which destroyed the home of Frank Wiscoski, of Blains, near here.

The injured are: Frank Wiscoski, his wife Mary and their three children, Benjamin, twenty-two years old; Wesley, thirteen years old, and Ella, eleven years old.

When the fire was discovered by neighbors the entire lower floor of the building was in flames, and as none of the family was to be seen it was surmised that they were still in the house. Several volunteer rescuers got ladders and entered the second-story windows. Wiscoski and his wife were found unconscious in the hallway, having been overcome and badly burned while trying to rescue the children, and the three children were found unconscious in their rooms.

The flames spread so rapidly that all of them suffered from burns while being taken out, and some of the rescuers were slightly burned.
Car Falls Into Washout; Man Killed.
Harmony, Pa., Sept. 16.—As a result of the heavy rain here, which in some sections took on cloudburst proportions, one life at least was lost.
John Adams, fifty years old, was thrown from a car of the Pittsburg, Harmony, Butler & New Castle railway when it ran into a washout.
Adams was instantly killed.

Andrews Sentenced to Death.

Warren, Pa., Sept. 16.—With the calm, cool demeanor that has characterized him since his arrest for the murder of Emilie Amann, one the night of Jan. 27, John M. Andrews received the death sentence. D. U. Arid, Andrews' attorney, at once filed an application to the sentence and an appeal will be made to the supreme court.

lieved there will remain between 100

SHOOTS DAUGHTER DOWN ON STREET

Father Grabs Girl Returning From Work.

Philadelphia, Sept. 16.—George Schachte, characterized by his wife as an "insane, jealous father," shot down and probably mortally wounded his twenty-one-year-old daughter, May, as she was leaving a hosiery factory where she was employed.

Schachte grabbed his daughter by the wrist as she came out with the crowd of other employees, both men and women, and crying, "life or death," drew a heavy rusty revolver from his pocket and began to fire at her.

She jerked violently from him and fell to the pavement as he fired, and although he fired four shots only one took effect, passing through her back.
It is feared by the physicians at St.
Mary's hospital to have penetrated the lungs.

The girl wrenched herself free and staggered to the home of John Ronty, at 466 Memphis street. She was taken in hand by some of her young women friends, and with their assistance managed to walk to her home at 1502 East Palmer street.

Meantime the crowd turned on the father, who attempted to defend himself with the revolver as a club. He was borne down by the infuriated employees and other persons who had been attracted by the shots, and in the melee men and women sought to strike him. Policeman Neveale came to the rescue of the man, but he, too, was resisted both by the mob and also by Schachte.

Schachte has not lived with his wife for two years, following a fight, and she says his act was caused by jealousy of the daughter.

FLYNN DEFEATS MORRIS

"White Man's Hope" Received a Terrific Beating.

New York, Sept. 16.—Carl Morris, the Oklahoma giant, is not a real white hope and will not be the man to win back the heavyweight crown from Jack Johnson, the world's champion.

In Madison Square Garden Morris received a terrific beating in ten rounds from Jim Flynn, of Pueblo, Colo., and had it not been for Morris' wonderful pluck there is no doubt but that he would have been put to sleep.

Although Morris was nearly six inches taller and weighed fifty pounds more, he was practically slaughtered.
Both of his eyes were closed, his nose was broken, his lips were slashed and he received so many blows on the right side of the head that it swelled to the size of a small pumpkin.

From the moment the men put up their hands it was clear that Morris knew nothing of the art of self-defense.

Strike May Be Called Today.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 16.—Definite action by the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western trackmen's committee on the strike question will likely be taken today. The national officers are here conferring and will probably make an announcement soon. In view of the alternative given by the men and the refusal of the company to submit the dispute to arbitration, it is believed that a strike order will be issued.

FARM FAIRS TRAIN CHILDREN.

Teach Them That Agriculture is a Study of Which to Be Proud.

Is a farmer a business man? If so, he can make no better investment than to take his family to the state fair. By so doing he will cast bread upon the waters. The profits will be dollars and sense. The blessing will be—better boys, better girls, better farms. Every boy and every girl has a right to have a good time while young. Make the child happy and you have done much to make it good. The neglected and unhappy child too oft becomes the tramp and the vagabond. The state fair is the crossroads of well directed effort, the showcase of brawn and brain, the season's finished story, the upstairs of human endeavor, the home of the top notcher, the inner chamber of the temple of ambition and perseverance, the college and university of experience and experiment, the arena where Greek meets Greek; the battle of the breeds, the field upon which the victories of peace are won, the homestretch of genius and invention, the repository of finished products, the place where exhibitors learn the joys of victory and the gloom of defeat, the pendulum which moves the hands on the clock of progress, the guide-board pointing the way to better methods and better things, a convincing argument for higher ideals, the acme of the newest and the best, the high priest of civilization and Christian living.

When the boy learns that father will take him to this great exposition the world will at once seem brighter to both father and son. Hard work will not seem so much like drudgery. The boy will sing and whistle and his heart be glad from morn till night. The old farm will have a charm it never had before. More sunshine in the home and a hundred smiles for every frown.

Ohio Department of Agriculture.

GIVE STOCK PURE WATER.

Cheap and Easy Way to Keep Them
as Comfortable as Humans.

One of the greatest difficulties that confronts the stock raiser during dry summer weather is that of keeping pure water for the stock. The figure below is an illustration of a method used in western states. Bury an old zinc tank or some other construction that will hold at least fifty gallons of water. In this place a large size water barrel, bore some three or four holes in the bottom end of this just below the top of the outside tank, in these holes place an iron tube as much as an inch in diameter and the inclosure will always be full of water, and there is no waste.

WASTED EGGS.

Two eggs out of every dozen laid by American hens may be said to drop through holes in the farmer's basket before they reach a market. In other words, while the hen sees to it that every egg she lays is worth taking care of, the farmer takes proper care of only ten. The aggregate loss from this cause reaches over $1,000,000 annually.
Nearly all those eggs may be saved by a better arrangement of poultry houses, a better system in collecting eggs and by co-operation in quick marketing.

Hum of the Hive.

Wait till spring to make a start in beekeeping.

It is surprising what an influence the winter has over the clover flow for the following spring, and where the heavy snows prevail it is generally a good omen for a heavy clover flow.

If you are tired of the flimsy bottom boards that are sent out by a number of manufacturers that hardly last long enough to pay for the paint they take,
or if you have had mishaps with them in moving bees, etc., here

WILEY CLEARED BY PRESIDENT

Pure Food Expert Completely Exonerated.

ASSISTANTS REPRIMANDED

Taft Praises Expert Whose Removal Was Advised by Attorney General and Finds Both Him and Dr. Rusby Guiltless.

Beverly, Mass., Sept. 16.—Efforts to have Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the United States' best known pure food expert ousted from his place as chief of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture has failed utterly.

The resignation of Dr. Wiley will not be asked for by President Taft, despite recommendations that it be requested, made by the personnel board of the department and endorsed by Attorney General Wickersham. The condition of punishment for Dr. Wiley, which Mr. Wickersham held to be necessary, will not be meted out by the chief executive.

The president's opinion, carrying no word of criticism for Dr. Wiley, but many a word of praise, was made public.

There is no indication in it that the president feels that he "turned down" Mr. Wickersham by not accepting his recommendations. He explained that the attorney general's findings in the case were made with less complete data than was before him when he took it up.

In the opinion the president admits what has been well known to many persons close to the administration—that there is trouble in the department of agriculture. Speaking of the congressional inquiry, into that department, unfinished at last session, and to be taken up again next winter, Mr. Taft says:

"The broader issues raised by the investigation which have a much weightier relation than this one to the general efficiency of the department, may require more radical action than the question I have considered and decided."

That this statement indicates a curious shake-up in the department next winter was freely predicted. There have never been any intimations that Secretary Wilson was disposed to retire, and it is not believed that the president would request him to do so. A general shake-up of affairs in the department, however, could easily be requested by the president and carried through when he returns to Washington in November.

The "Wiley case" arose over the employment by the bureau of chemistry of Dr. H. H. Rusby, of New York, pharmacognosist of the bureau. In effect, Dr. Wiley, Dr. L. F. Kebler, chief of the drug laboratory, and Dr. W. D. Bigelow, assistant chief of the bureau, were charged with having conspired to pay Dr. Rusby a salary of $1600 a year, with the tacit understanding that he was to do only enough work to obtain this amount at the rate of $20 a day.

This was declared to violate the act of congress of March 15, 1898, which declared that no classified scientific investigator should receive more than $9 a day.

In addition to the recommendation that Dr. Wiley be allowed to resign, the personnel board held that Dr. Rusby should be dismissed, that Dr. Kebler be reduced, and that Dr. Bigelow be allowed to quit the service. None of these recommendations is upheld in the president's opinion.

Dr. Kebler is reprimanded for "disrespectful conduct" in his letter writing to Dr. Rusby, and the president says that the letters suggest a "willingness to resort to evasion," that calls for official reproof.

Dr. Bigelow is held to be as guileless as Dr. Wiley in this particular matter. A charge against him, however, of obtaining the appointment on the common "laborers' role" of a physician and expert "whom he could use to do his work at a very small stipend when he himself was called away," the president holds to be "not especially creditable."

The case, the president says, has made apparent the "doubtful legislative policy of placing limitations upon bureau chiefs to exact per diem compensation for experts."

The government, he says, "ought not to be at a disadvantage in this regard, and one cannot withhold one's sympathy with an earnest effort by Dr. Wiley to pay proper compensation and secure expert assistance in the enforcement of so important a statute as the pure food law," certainly in the beginning when the questions arising under it are of capital importance to the public.

The president's conclusions, he says, were ready weeks ago, but he did not put them on paper because he hoped for a time for the report of the committee of the house of representatives that was investigating the department of agriculture.

President Taft is 54. Beverly, Mass., Sept. 16.—Friday was President Taft's fifty-fourth birthday. Congratulatory messages poured in from all over the world. One came from King George V. of England.

The Eternal Feminine. From the fresco paintings of women in the Cretan palaces of the period about 2000 B. C. it is learned that the women of that time plucked in their waists, wore an elaborate coiffure on their heads, shoes with high heels and hats which might have come from a Parisian hat shop, while one woman might be described as wearing a tupe culotte.

SIR F. L. BERTIE. British Ambassador Who Advised France on Morocco.

GERMANY GETS REPLY

Special Courier Reaches Berlin With France's Answer.

Berlin, Sept. 16.—A special courier has arrived from Paris carrying the draft of France's reply to the German proposals in regard to Morocco and a memorandum for the guidance of M. Jules Cambon, the French ambassador to Germany.

The contents of the French reply were communicated to Sir Francis Bertie and M. Isvolsky, the British and Russian ambassadors to France, for approval.

All will depend on Germany's next move.

BANK ROBBERS MAKE HAUL OF $315,000

Loot Vaults of Bank at New Westminster, B. C.

New Westminster, B. C., Sept. 16.—Robbers broke into the branch of the Bank of Montreal here and escaped with $315,000 in gold and bills.

Three men entered the building by an unprotected rear window and dug through a brick wall into the vault, wrecked the cage door and dynamited the safe.

They left $20,000 in gold on the bed where they had piled their loot, and about $80,000 more unmoistened in the safe.

The bank watchman was on his vacation, and the only person in the building was a Chinese janitor, who was sandbagged before he could give an alarm, gagged and tied to a chair. He had managed to work loose after the men had gone and reported the robbery.

From the thoroughness of the job and the tools with which the work was done, local officers believe the same gang which has been at work in Vancouver turned the trick.

It is evident the burglars knew the watchman was away, for in his room their loot was tied up and blankets from his bed had been used to deaden the noise of the explosion.

VOLCANO LOSS $20,000,000

Mount Etna Destroys Much Property With Flood of Lava.

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 16.—Clouds of smoke from Mount Etna hid the sun and made the atmosphere in this vicinity intolerable.

The volcano continues to throw out lava, cinders and ashes from the craters and a hundred new fissures. The river of lava flowing to the north has separated into four main streams, the largest of which is moving toward Al cantara and is two miles from Fran cavilla. The railway station of Solie chiatra is in immediate danger.

It is estimated that the present eruption has caused so far a property loss of $20,000,000.

WON'T DODGE PRESIDENCY

That's All Governor Harmon Will Say About His Boom.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 16.—"No man, you know, would run away from the presidency of the United States," said Governor Harmon, of Ohio, when asked whether he was a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

When asked for a more definite announcement, Governor Harmon replied that he did not consider it in keeping with the proprieties of the governors' conference to drag in personal political affairs. The governor left Spring Lake for Knoxville, Tenn., where he will address the Appalachian convention.

Complete Vindication, Says Wiley.

Bluemont, Va., Sept. 16.—"It's a complete vindication for me," said Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, when informed of the president's opinion in his case, "I have nothing to say, in view of the fact that I have received no word of official regarding the matter."

Goldsmith's Obituary Notice.

It would be difficult to find a more quaint announcement of death than that published in an old newspaper in 1774, at the time of Oliver Goldsmith's demise.

STOLYPIN MAY SURVIVE SHOTS

Physicians Hopeful of Recovery of Russian Premier.

ATTACKED AT KIEV THEATRE

The Czar Sees His Leading Statesman Shot Twice While Witnessing Opera—The Spectators Were Panic-Stricken.

Kief, Russia, Sept. 16.—There appear to be grounds for the hope that Premier Stolypin will for the third time survive the attack of an assassin.

Fired upon at close range as he sat defenseless in his chair at the Municipal theater, the premier escaped with two wounds, neither of which, it is said, are necessarily fatal. A dispatch sent to the premier's brother, Alexander Stolypin, at St. Petersburg, stated that the patient's condition was "very satisfactory," and the surgeons had not deemed an operation necessary. Their tentative judgment was that the bullets had wounded the pleura and grazed the liver.

Following his removal from the playhouse the wounded man slept for four hours, after which the first consultation was held.

The assassination was attempted under circumstances that lent themselves to a most dramatic scene. The would-be murderer, who described himself as a junior member of a firm of lawyers and the son of a well known attorney and wealthy house owner, M. Bogroff, chose a moment when attention had been withdrawn from the stage and centered readily upon his first unexpected move.

The day had been one of festivities, in which Emperor Nicholas and others of the imperial family had personally participated. In the afternoon the emperor, with M. Stolypin and others of the cabinet, had witnessed the army maneuvers in the vicinity of Kopylov. Returning to the city, the party visited the Petchora Hippodrome and witnessed a review of 4000 Boy Scouts from the Kiev grammar school.

The program was to close with a gala performance of the opera and ballet, "Tsar Soltan," by Rimsky-Korsakoff, the late composer and professor of the St. Petersburg conservatory. Admission to the Municipal theater was by card, and these permits had been issued with great discrimination to leading citizens of the city.

Royal Family See Tragedy.

At 9 o'clock the curtain rose. The imperial box was occupied by Emperor Nicholas, the heir apparent, Grand Duke Alexis, aged seven years, and the emperor's daughters, Grand Duchesses Olga, Tatiana, Marie and Anastasia. In the front row of the pit directly at the rear of the orchestra were seated Premier Stolypin and his associates in the ministry.

The opera progressed until the curtain fell on the second act. During the intermission, Premier Stolypin, leaning his left arm upon the orchestra fence, had turned his face to the right toward the center aisle, conversing with the minister of war, General Soukhomlinoff, and Count Potokoy.

A young man in evening dress moved quietly down the center aisle, approached the row occupied by the ministers and appeared to accost M. Stolypin. A second later he swiftly drew a revolver from his coat and emptied it seemingly point blank at M. Stolypin. As the reports of the shots crashed through the house there was a wild cry from the spectators, who rose to their feet simultaneously, many of the women immediately sinking into their chairs fainting. The vast crowd seemed panic-stricken.

Emperor Nicholas at the sound of the first explosion sprang from his chair and stepping to the front of the imperial box, stared in the direction of the wounded premier. With a quick realization of what had occurred, his majesty ordered the orchestra to play the National Anthem.

The coolest figure in the tragedy was that of M. Stolypin, who was twice wounded. One bullet had entered the right breast and the other the right wrist, probably as he raised his arm in defense. With great courage he summoned his waning strength and, rising, faced the imperial box, lifted his wounded arm and made the sign of the cross toward his majesty. Then he dropped into his seat. Before General Soukhomlinoff could assist him the premier removed his uniform and attempted to examine his injuries.

Meantime there was the wildest confusion, in the midst of which Bogroff slipped toward an exit. Before he could reach it, however, he was seized, thrown to the floor and trampled under foot. The police succeeded in controlling the situation and gave Bogroff the protection of a prisoner.

After the premier had been given first aid he was carried from the theater. As he was carried down the aisle he witnessed a remarkable demonstration of loyalty.

With the departure of the royal family the police took possession of the opera house. The audience was allowed to leave only one by one, after identification.

The bullet that passed through the wrist of the premier ricocheted and struck the foot of one of the violinists in the orchestra.

the hermit may essay to meet the dread tyrant with more than Grecian or Roman fortitude."

Dead Leaves as Fertilizers.

According to tests made in France, dead leaves possess a high value as fertilizers. They are extensively used by the market gardeners about the city of Nantes. Pear leaves have the highest quantity of nitrogenous, oak leaves come next, and the leaves of vines stand lowest in value.

Purse Versus Passport in Russia. Should a citizen of the United States attempt to enter Russia without a passport he would be turned back at the frontier. Should he arrive in Russian waters he will not be permitted to disembark until he has produced the necessary document, properly vided by a Russian consular or diplomatic officer. Indeed, the mere possession of an American passport is not sufficient, for the regulations of the Russians prescribe that the credential must be vided before the frontier is crossed. Better to lose one's purse than one's passport in Russia. Funds may be carried for a few hours, but it is a question of weeks where a passport is concerned. Russian officials are usually courteous to American visitors who do not display too much curiosity about certain unspeakable Russian institutions, but let them find a traveler in the interior without a passport and the luckless one will speedily see the inside of a Russian jail, and sooner or later be conducted to the nearest point of the frontier.—Travel Magazine.

Astronomical Facts. The diameter of the sun is reckoned at 882,000 miles. This diameter, owing to its loss of heat and the consequent condensation, is steadily being shortened, though at a very slow rate, of course. The whole solar system—the sun and all of its planets—is moving through space at a pace estimated at about 150,000,000 of miles annually. Those who are supposed to know about the matter assure us that, owing to certain causes, too numerous and complicated to be dealt with in this place, the planet on which we live receives only the 2,250-millionth part of the heat that is thrown off by the sun. Even as it is the earth receives annually from the sun an amount of heat that exceeds by a million times the heat producible by the combustion of 250,000,000 tons of coal.—New York American.

Thackeray's First Poem.

Thackeray's momentous first appearance in print was a satirical poem, published in the Western Luminary during one of the happy holiday times which he spent in Devonshire when still a scholar at the Charterhouse. A certain Mr. Lalor Shell was to have delivered a speech upon Penenden Heath, but the crowd refused to hear him. He had taken the precaution, however, to send copies of his intended oration to all the leading journals before leaving town, and these, of course, printed it. This ludicrous incident inspired Thackeray to write a little jeu d'esprit entitled "Irish Melody," telling how "Mister Shell" when the men of Kent "began a grievous shouting" found comfort in reflecting: "My speech is safe in the Times I wrote And eke in the Morning Chronicle."

Cats in Ancient Wales.

An ancient statute ascribed to Howell the Good, a Welsh prince, who ruled in 948, regulated the price of cats. A penny was the price of a kitten before its eyes were open, twopence until it had caught its first mouse and fourpence when it was old enough for combat. He who stole a cat from the royal granaries forfeited either a milk ewe, with its fleece and lamb, or as much wheat as would cover the body of the cat suspended by its tail, with its nose touching the ground. A penny was a coin of great purchasing power in the tenth century.

Ancient Customs That Are Still Kept Alive in England.

The city of Gloucester, in England, annually presents the king with a pie. Almost from time immemorial Gloucester until the year 1834 followed the custom of expressing its loyalty to the throne by sending to the sovereign a lamprey pie. In 1834 the custom was suspended, but it was revived in 1893 and has since continued.

It was felt that the year of the diamond jubilee required some special effort, and therefore the 1897 pie, which was in May dispatched to Balmoral upon a gold dish, was of a more than usually elaborate character. This pie weighed twenty pounds and was adorned with truffles, fine prawns on gold skewers and aspic jelly. On the top was a representation of the royal crown and cushion, with a scepter to which were attached streamers of royal blue, and at the base were four golden lions.

By the survival of an ancient custom the town of Yarmouth is bound to furnish to the sheriffs of Norwich annually a hundred herrings baked in twenty-four pies, which are then sent to the lord of the manor of East Clerton, who conveys them to the king.—Harper's Weekly.

The Transformation of Percy.

His name was Johnny, and his ambition was to be grown up. He had watched Cissy and Percy, but that's another story, as Kipling says. "Papa," he piped as he walked with his dad on the beach, "what's under those rocks?"

"Limpets," snapped papa. This was not the first question.

"Wouldn't they rather walk about, pa?"

"No!" rapped out pa. "They prefer to cling where they are!"

"Is everything that likes clinging to something else a limpet, pa?"

"For goodness—yes!" roared father. Johnny thought.

"Well, pa," he concluded, "is Percy a limpet, pa, when he says goodbye to Cissy in the passage?"—London Answers.

There Was a Coolness.

Two fashionable Philadelphia women met in Chelsea one morning recently. As they shook hands and stopped to speak Mrs. Brown said to Mrs. Jones, "That's a beautiful hat you are wearing."

"Yes, my dear. Isn't it cunning? And I'm so glad you like it. John gave me the money, and I had it imported from Paris."

Next day little Susie Brown was playing with the Jones girl, and she said, "My mother says your mother has an ugly old hat what is her last year's lid made up new?"

And when Mr. Brown and Mr. Jones reached a mutual friend's, hoping to spend the week end together, they found a coolness between the families.—Philadelphia Times.

Hot Air as a Polisher.

Hot air is used for polishing. The articles to be treated are placed in a basket in a centrifugal machine driven at a very high speed and heated air is blown from a pipe through the basket. A high polish is thus produced very rapidly. Nickel plated articles that have become tarnished are made bright in a few minutes. Wet metal, fresh from the bath, needs no preliminary drying, for the current of air dries and polishes it at the same moment.

Punishment.

"Has Tommie been a good boy since I've been out?" said the mother.

"No, he hasn't," replied the father.

"Did you punish him?"

"No."

"Oh, yes, you did, pop! Don't you remember you sang to me?" came from the boy.—Yonkers Statesman.

BURGESS' GREAT SWIMMING FEAT

After Fifteen Attempts He Finally Negotiates English Channel.

TWENTY-TWO HOURS IN WATER

Distance Covered Owing to Zigzag Course Was Close to Sixty Miles. First to Equal Feat of Captain Webb in 1875.

By TOMMY CLARK.

After a lapse of thirty-six years, in which numberless attempts have been made, Captain Matthew Webb's feat of swimming the English channel has been duplicated by William Burgess, a Yorkshireman by birth and a blacksmith in Paris. It was Burgess' sixteenth attempt, he having first essayed the task in 1904.

Burgess started from South Foreman, Dover, fifteen minutes past 11 o'clock the morning of Sept. 5. He landed at La Chatele, a little village two miles east of Cape Gris Nez, at ten minutes before 10 o'clock the morning of the 6th, accomplishing the passage in 22 hours 35 minutes. A motorboat accompanied the swimmer, and it is estimated that Mr. Burgess, owing to the zigzag course he was compelled to take because of baffling tides, covered sixty miles.

Throughout the trip Burgess was favored by a calm sea, but a strong tide was running, and a severe strain was put on the swimmer to get past the Goodwin sands. Twice he was attacked by illness and several times was held to his task only by the strongest will power and the encouraging words of the men in the boat.

For the trip across the channel Burgess was well greased. He wore a pair of goggles and a rubber bathing cap. A party of eleven accompanied him in the motorboat.

Swimming the English channel is not like taking a dip in the surf at some seaside resort, a dash through a calm lake or a swim from one side of the river to the other. Navigation on a rough day in the tempestuous Atlantic ocean gives an idea of the European feat, but still it lacks some of the essential features that have made the aquatic Marathon unswim by so many.

The English channel is probably the best body of water known to thoroughly try the capabilities of a swimmer. First there is necessary the ability to swim, and swim well. Then comes endurance, a potential factor, as the sailors the world over know the channel as one of the stormiest bits of water to be encountered. The historic bay of Biscay is often peaceful, the English channel seldom so.

It is the strong and varying current in the English channel that renders the crossing so difficult, even, in fact for vessels. While the distance from Dover to Calais is only a fraction over twenty miles, the tide and current sweep the swimmers back and forth up and down the course, almost at will at times. Captain Webb is estimated to have covered almost forty miles when he swam the channel.

Of course no story is complete without mention of Captain Paul Boyton. The latter was the first man to cross the channel, but he did it in his famous rubber air inflated suit.

Statistics give a faint idea of the uninitiated of the hardships involved. Below are a few of the requisites:

Food.—Swimmers must be able to take food in the water without the admixture of salt water, in which case sickness usually results.

Eyes.—The eyes must be accustomed to salt water, and in addition a canvas helmet with glass eyes is generally used, protecting the ears as well.

Head and Brain.—A thin rubber skullcap is generally used to keep the head and brain warm and prevent shivers.

Hands and Feet.—Because of the suffering from cold the hands and feet, together with the stomach, neck, back of the head and outside of the ears, are usually anointed with tar, the inside of the ears being plugged with soft wax, held in by wadding.

Body.—The body is smeared with Russian tallow in order to retain the natural heat as long as possible, and lard is used as a second dressing.
